

Hey, gardener!

I'm looking for folks who are excited about participating in an interview about their experience in the community garden.

For my senior thesis, I am conducting 30-60 minute interviews from gardeners within Thurston County about your experience participating within community gardens and your relationship to food.

With my final paper, I am intending to describe what steps community organizers can take to promote the reclamation of identity, and thus healing, through physical spaces, such as gardens.

In return for your time, I can trade you an hour of my time by assisting you with garden-related tasks, or, with produce from my own garden.

Interested? Have questions?

Send me an email!

haneli30@evergreen.edu

Kitchen Stories, Political Gardens

haneli30@evergreen.edu

Kitchen Stories, Political Gardens

haneli30@evergreen.edu

Kitchen Stories, Political Gardens

haneli30@evergreen.edu

Kitchen Stories, Political Gardens

haneli30@evergreen.edu

Kitchen Stories, Political Gardens

haneli30@evergreen.edu

Kitchen Stories, Political Gardens

haneli30@evergreen.edu

Kitchen Stories, Political Gardens

haneli30@evergreen.edu

Kitchen Stories, Political Gardens

haneli30@evergreen.edu

Kitchen Stories, Political Gardens

haneli30@evergreen.edu